Since joining FR&R in 1995, Ted has used his accounting and auditing knowledge and solutions-oriented approach to cultivate long-term relationships with his diverse client base, which ranges from small to midsize manufacturing firms, healthcare agencies, nonprofit organizations and other varied businesses. With his superior analytical skills and extensive experience, Ted has developed an expertise in cost accounting, particularly for the manufacturing sector, as well as in the specialized challenges of performing Housing and Urban Development (HUD) audits.

Among his accomplishments, Ted:

- Counseled growing clients on financial products and services to meet their changing needs as their businesses expand and their life circumstances evolve.
- Provided tax planning and consulting in a variety of areas – from personal retirement planning to how to structure a business entity and achieve the maximum tax-saving benefits.
- Used his organizational, problem-solving and technical skills to develop efficiencies for clients in a variety of industries.
- Assisted various entities with regards to financing, debt coverage and due diligence engagements.

After earning his Bachelor of Science in accounting with honors from DePaul University, Ted earned his CPA. A key member of FR&R's recruiting and staff development efforts, Ted is also a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Illinois CPA Society.
